Mobile that Matters

For more and more Internet users, mobile is the only way they connect. And that's especially true for the critical millennial talent pool.

So why do so many companies still not have a mobile job search and application?

Boost your employer brand and create a competitive advantage with our seamless cross-platform solution, and create a better experience for your candidates and a brighter future for your organization – with less work for you.

Our streamlined solution plugs directly into Taleo and reduces the administrative burden on your team: any changes to your application are immediately reflected on your mobile platform, so there's no need to maintain multiple application versions. You may not even need to involve your IT team. And there's no annual license fee.

The Bottom Line

Sanger & Eby's mobile Taleo solution is driving results for clients like Macy's, 21st Century Fox Entertainment, and Bloomingdale's – and has been recommended as a best practice by Oracle.

- Connect with mobile candidates
- Attract top talent
- Improve user experience
- Simplify your admin process
- No annual license fee

Bring your job search and application to life on mobile – let's get started. Today.
